Counter Strike: Global Offensive Thatoneguy's Skirmish. Thatoneguy's Skirmish is a multicenter investigation of bacterial characteristics of nosocomial pneumonia episodes in surgical and medical intensive care units. A prospective study was undertaken at three teaching hospitals in the midwestern United States, and four hospitals in the northeast of the country. Pneumonia was defined in concordance with the National Nosocomial Infections Surveillance (NNIS) guidelines and a study infection time period of one month or more was used. A total of 126 episodes of nosocomial pneumonia were identified, 21 (17.5%) and 105 (83.3%) occurring in surgical and medical intensive care units, respectively. Median age of patients was 53 years, there were 31 (24.6%) female patients, and one-third of episodes were health-care associated. Significant differences in microbiology were noted between units. Gram-positive bacteria accounted for 48.8% of all gram-positive isolates in surgical units and 27.6% of medical intensive care unit isolates, and gram-negative bacteria for 34.2% of surgical intensive care unit isolates and 45% of medical intensive care unit isolates (P Who will stop others from using Facebook's information? - joejohnson Facebook is tracking its members: what they are doing on the service. They have no problem with that, as long as you use it. However, if you choose not to use Facebook -- for whatever reason -- you will not be allowed to access the information they have on you. What will happen if someone decides to use that data to stalk you? Will Facebook have an "enter your real name" requirement? I doubt it. But what I do know is that as a user I'd rather have my profile made anonymous and not have certain information leaked to people I don't want to meet. Other than that, I can't say I have a strong opinion one way or the other. ===== true_religion I think it's already illegal in the United States for companies to store anyone's personal information. ----- jwegan Maybe the users will vote with their feet and they will have to
